

Dear Professors, distinguished guests, ladies and gentleman, Good morning.

I am... (self-Introduction)

On behalf of XXX as well as the organizing committee of 2012 International Conference on XXX. I'd like to extend our warmest welcome to all of you here. Welcome to join in this conference in XXX.

We expect the coming of XXX for more than half a year, and today they finally come into being. In order to prepare this conference, the conference committee, organizing committee, program committee as well as all the authors neither seated here today or busy with their research works anywhere else have made a lot of efforts and contributions. Thank you very much for your supports to the conference. Also I'd like to thank you Professor XXX, for coming and sharing the keynote speech with us. I also will share a topic on XXX with you.

After 3 rounds paper submission and reviewing, almost 150 papers have been selected to be published in the conference proceedings from around 400 submissions. Later, part of the papers will be included in XXX and finally be indexed by EI Compendex. And some of them will be published by Journal.

The main aim for XXX organizing international conferences is to set a platform for people from Universities, labs, and industry to communicate and share, or to teach and learn, to see what the research level of a certain area is, out of one's own country or area, So as to find potential opportunities for domestic or international cooperation. I say cooperation, is not only referring to business cooperation, but also further education and friendship making.

Now, the platform is ready, what we need is for you all to come up here one by one to seize this opportunity to show your thoughts and opinions confidently. Maybe your idea is still an idea, which hasn't been proved or accepted, but new ideas and innovation will be 100 percent respected in our conferences. This means everybody here, no matter you are esteemed experts, or dreaming students, this is your stage. When you are making your presentation, you are making progress and somebody else will be enlightened by your presentation.

So let us make progress together, and wish you a good job today and a nice stay in XXX.

Thank you!
